

Please, No Soliciting

Evil people do not live here. Our souls do not require salvation, redemption, introduction, recruitment or publications of any kind relating to your religion or cult. We're happy it works for you. Please respect that we've found our way in life. We'll take our chances with the potential for eternal damnation.

We're not selfish either and give generously to a select group of organizations of our choosing. Therefore, please - no collecting, seeking of donations, subscription or product selling, limited period trial sign-ups etc. Power to you though for seizing the initiative. This also includes good old-fashioned door-to-door sales.

Thank you for respecting our wishes, and we hope you have a pleasant day.
